CUPID'S JOKE.

Once Venus, deeming Love too fat,
Stopped all his rich ambrosial dishes,
Joanning the boy to live on chet,
To sup on songs, and dine on wishes,
Jove, lean and lank, flew off to prowi—
The starveling now no heauty bonsted—
te could have munched Minerva's owl
Or Juno's peacock, boiled or rossted.

At last, half famished, almost dead,
He shot his mother's dove for dinner;
Young Lilm, passing, shook her head—
Cried Love, ''A shot at you, you sinner!''
''O, not at me!''—she urged her flight—
''I'm neither dove, nor lark, nor starling!''
''No'' fainting Cupid cried, ''not quite,
But then—you're such a duck, my darling!'

IF YOU LOVE ME TELL ME SO.

[From the Chicago Times.] If you love me, tell me so,
Walt not till the summer glow
Fades in autumn's changeful light
Amber clouds and purple night:
Wait not till the winter hour,
Heap with snow drifts all the flowers,
Till the tide of life runs low—
It you love me, tell me so.

If you love me, tell me so, While the river's dreamy flow Holds the love enchanted hours Steeped in music, crowned with flowers, Ere the summer's dreamy days de in mystic, purple haze— Ere is hu-hed the music flow— If you love me, tell me so.

If you love me, tell me so, Let me hear the sweet words low, Let me, in life's morning fair, Feel your kisses on my hair, While in womanhood's first bloom, ire shall come dark days of gloom; In the first fresh morning glow— If you love me, tell me so.

A CURIOUS INTIMACY and Claims to Understand Horse Talk.

There is a retired trainer, named Long, residing on a small farm in Alameda county, who lives for nothing cise but the pleasure of being near horses. He eats his meals in the stable, oftentimes passes the night in the same stall with a favorite pony, and anong his equine pets is a mare who whinnies in answer every time he speaks to her. Our informant relates that the most perfect understanding evidently exists between Mr. Long and at least three out of the five horses in his stable. Two are recent additions, but even in their case the same affinity is but even in their case the same affinity In a resear digite.

The training of horses, their obedience, docily, and tricks in a circus, are no movelty; all tus have seen a horse fire a pistol, stand on two 198, waltz, he down with its trainer, and perform a hundred acts of sagacity, but these are imply the result of patient training and systematic correction. What Mr. Long claims is far nore astomading. He asserts that, from a life ong intimacy with horses, he understands their peech; he goes further and declares that their result, guttural, explodent and unobstructed sounds have a different meaning, are used by the coalition of the brain and vocal organs, and that not only do his favorite horses understandim, but that every sound which they utter is perfectly plain to him. When arguing with him that, though he might comprehend the meaning of the sounds emmating from the vocal chords of a horse, yet it was a patent impossibility for a horse to understand the English language, he replied: "Living, eating, and sleeping with my horses has given me the knowledge I possess, and the same intimacy has sequired for my horses he powers I claim for them." Here, turning to a slender light-built gray pony, he said, "Billy, we are talking of you; if you understand what I am saying, turn your head round on the off side." The pony did so, and then resume I i's feed. "Billy," he continued, "tell me your age, how long you have lived here, and on which side of you is your friend Vesta?" The pony whinnied for about two minutes consecutively, and then, being loose in its stall, walked into the adjoining one occupied by the mare Vesta. "Now," he continued drink while I make up your beds." Vesta and Billy walked quietly out and proceeded sraight to the trough.

While they were out, Mr. Long turned over the straw carefully with a fork, and carried on

The very moment that the spirit of party insubordination is permitted in county politics that moment the seed is planted, which will spread into state and national politics. It encourages a disregard for party ties, a spirit of solitical mutiny, which, unless promptly checked, will be absolutely certain to develop into proportions that will eventually exceed mere ocal limits. proportions that will eventually exceed mere local limits.

It is important therefore at this primary point, for the sake of harmony in our state and national organizations, to restrain all manifestations of discontent or boiling among the people and to stimulate the idea of standing by the party at all times and under all circumstances, unless it puts forward corrupt or incompetent men.

But it is contended that in our county the democratic majority is so large that nominations are not necessary. The extent of our majority is the atrongest argument in behalf of organization, for, where a party is so strong, there is the greatest danger of it becoming infested with small factions and of falling a victim to the demagoguery and selfshiness of designing men A rigid enforcement of party rules and a strict adherence to them are the only safe-guards.

The only safe, logical and consistent plan is to stand by the party, and support its nominees from the highest to the lowest on the ticket. In no other way can we possible preserve organization. By no other metnort can we retain the integrity of oar principles. Under no other policy can we avert the possibility of defeat.

[Columbia Herald.]

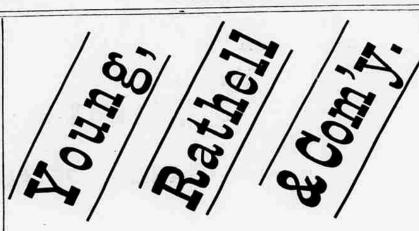

Ohio and Indiana. Hon. Henry C. Brock-meyer, democratic candidate for licutenant governor of Missouri, who has been speaking in Ohio, has returned to his residence in this city, having been recalled home by dispatches an-nouncing the alarming litness of his wife. The domestic affliction compels Mr. Brockmeyer to abandon his engagements, in the midst of ova-tions everywhere tendered him, and return to his home. and the states given by colloadhead. Col. Brockmeyer is known to be a n who bases his opinion on nothing but the obest kinds of facts—and he positively prests that both Ohio and Indiana will go for den by good, round majorities. The republishing themselves know it; some of them admit and the leaders betray it in their ill-conceal-alarm. The changes in the floating vote, from republican to the democratic side, are markand perceptible in 'both states, particularly Ohio where the large and intelligent body of rman voters are seven-eighths for Tilden, burz is doing all he can, or, rather, all he is mitted to do for Hayes, but it is an up-hill rik for him, for Lieut. Gov. Mueller, of Ohio, ext. Gov. Koerner of Illinois. Gen. Sigle, ockmeyer, Stallo, Jussen, Hoadley and issantek are baffling him at every point, carring the Germans by the power of unanswerating the Germans by the power of unanswerating to import negro voters from Kencky, as a last expedient, but even this, Mr. ockmeyer says, will fail to overcome the upuatic democratic majority in the state.—Reblican, 24th.

At Jefferson City the colored people furnish about half of the radical voters; and at the late convention they demanded a candidate for justice of the peace, in the person of one of their own party, a young colored man of good character, a good scholar and a well read lawyer. But they would vote for radical white men to whom the offices belonged. A lot of the colored voters then bolled, and will vote the democratic ticket. At Springfield where they are very strong they demanded the candidates for the legislature, but were told by the white republicans that holding olice here was exclusively a radical privilege of the white persuasion, and that all the use they had for the colored voters was to vote the ticket made for them, whereupon they bolted and nominated one of their own color for the legislature. Here they are not allowed to march in processions with the white radicals.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Sept. 20.—In the Beaver ourst this morning Judge Boreman, in the course of his charge to the jury, said. The prisoner J.

Lee stands before you charged with being a stricipant in one of the most atrocious massares of human beings, men, women and children at Mountain Meadow in 1837, that was ever mown in any civilized part of the world. The visitous hows that the presence killed. in any civilized part of the world. The eshows that the persons killed were emission in the persons killed were emission of and white men had been making attacks seir encampments. Indians and white of with each other in the flendish work of ing over a hundred and twenty men, and children. It has been alleged he ewoman with a gun, cut the throat of a common with a gun, cut the throat of a common whose life the savage 'asked him. The jury retired at 11:45 a.m., and at m., returned with a veruict of murder in degree.

You can two for a republican, but you will vote against the democratic nomines for an independent candidate? A mild-mannered, accommodating deflocrat, indeed! Friend, if you are not for us, you are against us. He is not a good soldier who deserts the ranks in time of battle. In war they shoot him. Be a man; quit your nonsense, Reclothe yourself in democratic garments, and never, never again be turned from the path of duty.—Independence Sentinel.
